

Friday March 20th, 2015

The National Weather Service (NWS) in North Platte, NE has declared March 16 through March 20 as Flood Safety Awareness Week. Each day of the week will feature information about a different flood topic.

Today's topic: Be Aware!

Knowing when flooding is possible will give you time to prepare! You can always find the latest forecasts and hazardous weather conditions at weather.gov and the latest river forecast information at water.weather.gov. If you're not on your computer, you can access the same information via your mobile device at http://mobile .weather.gov.

Wireless Emergency Alerts are life-saving messages that will pop up on your mobile phone when you are in a geographic area that is under a Flash Flood Warning. Visit www.weather.gov/wirelessalerts for more information! Another tool to alert you to hazardous conditions is NOAA All Hazards Radio. This nationwide network of radio stations broadcasts continuous weather, river and other emergency information direct from NWS offices and emergency officials. For more information, visit www.nws.noaa.gov/nwr/

For more information and flood safety tips, visit:

www.floodsafety.noaa.gov